Secure Document Exchange

Secure Document Exchange dovetails with existing office systems and gives you the ability to deliver documentation instantly to your clients via a powerful integrated and secure communications platform.

What is Secure Document Exchange?

Secure Document Exchange (SDX) – sometimes referred to as a portal – is a system for users to view, transfer, and share files and documents with their clients, these may be large and/or confidential and require approval by the client, individual, or company.

Key Benefits

Security of transmission
All transmissions that are sent via Secure Document Exchange are made using industry standard SSL encryption (the same as that used for online banking and payments systems) providing infinitely better security of data than standard email systems that do not generally use any form of encryption.

Ease of access
Secure Document Exchange can be accessed through any standard web browser, from any internet enabled and connected device, including mobile access via laptops, notebooks, tablets and smart phones.

Ease of use
Secure Document Exchange has been specifically designed for ease of use by leaving out many of the rarely or never used components generally found in similar packages and making the features that your company and clients use on a day to day basis simple to understand and use in practice.
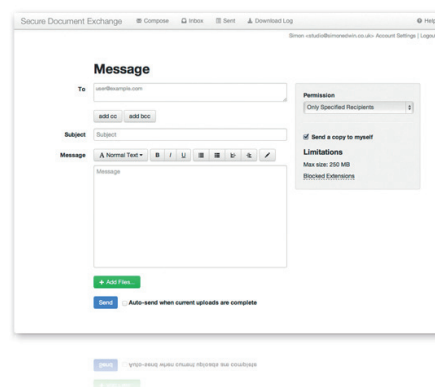

No additional hardware or software
Secure Document Exchange requires no additional hardware or software and can be very quickly set up and configured.

Time and cost savings
Transmissions via Secure Document Exchange are virtually instant therefore saving on valuable time over a conventional letter post system. We charge a small fixed monthly fee (roughly equivalent to the cost of sending 10 A4 size letters by post) for the service regardless of your company size and number of clients so the cost is very quickly recovered and the more you send the more you save!

Key Features

Unlimited file size

Standard email systems often have a file size limit of somewhere between 10 and 50 Megabytes but with Secure Document Exchange it doesn't matter how big your document is, there is no limit to the file size you can send. ✓

Unlimited portals

Secure Document Exchange (sometimes called a Portal) supports unlimited clients (Portals) and unlimited files and documents via the system. ✓

Unlimited User

Our Secure Document Exchange is charged per client on a monthly fee basis with no limit to the number of users ✓

Security features

Secure Document Exchange uses data encryption to keep your information safe and also carries out virus checking as standard. ✓

Full audit tracking

All uploads and downloads are tracked via the Audit Tracker. Details recorded include: Recipient & IP Address, Filename & Checksum, Dates & Times, Download Speed, Browser, Platform and Operating System details. ✓

Branding

Secure Document Exchange supports branding of the website for IT resellers, software companies, and clients. ✓

Outlook & Windows integration

The free plugin allows users to work within Windows and Outlook as normal thus retaining their familiar work practices. Secure documents can be attached as they would be in any normal email, the attachment is then converted into a link that allows the email recipient to download the document securely. ✓
